Nervous System on the HESI

Correct Answer Explanation A. It carries information throughout the body using electrical signals The neuron carries information throughout the body using electrical signals called action potential and chemical signals using neurotransmitters. A neuron is an excitable tissue and is able to generate and transmit electrical impulses. .

Incorrect Answer Explanations It carries information throughout the body using hormonal signal Neurons don't use hormonal signals. Rather, endocrine glands like the thyroid gland use chemicals called hormones to transmit information throughout the body. It protects the brain from mechanical injury
